BOSTON — With over a quarter of a century of experience providing virtual medical management services, including remote medical second opinion services, WorldCare International, Inc. will sponsor Benefit & Pensions Monitor's industry event "The Realities of Workplace Mental Health," taking place on June 6, 2017, at the InterContinental Toronto Centre in Toronto.

The event focuses on how mental health initiatives have become critical to business success. The impact of mental health issues in the workplace will be a central topic, including practical ways to bring awareness and support for healthier and psychologically safe workplaces. Richard Heinzl, MD, Global Medical Director, WorldCare International Inc., will share a forward-looking view on the burden of mental health problems on business and society as a whole.

"The burden of mental health issues in society can't be underestimated. At the same time it is fascinating and hopeful to consider new and future treatments coming our way. Both in the near and far term, they offer real hope to Canadians and their families who are looking for solutions and trying to cope," stated Richard Heinzl, MD, Global Medical Director, WorldCare International, Inc.

"Benefits and Pensions Monitor is honored to once again partner with WorldCare International Inc. at this special industry event. With mental health initiatives being top of mind in today's workplace for both employees and employers, we are excited to hear Richard Heinzl share his insights, future solutions and bring awareness to this very important topic." stated Kristyn Dougall, Executive Meeting & Event Manager, Benefits and Pension Monitor.
